Working together to eliminate avoidable error

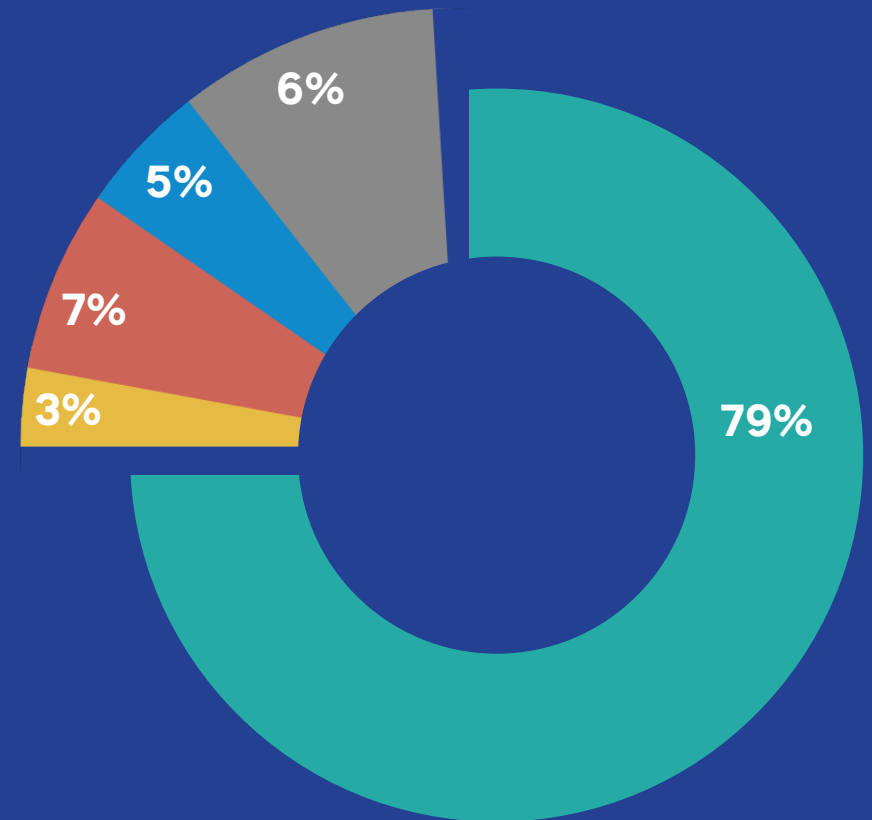

GIRI is a not-for-profit membership organisation that has adopted a multi-disciplinary approach to tackling error. Our members include clients, consultants, contractors, regulators, educators, professional institutions and trade bodies who are working together, across the sector, with the strategic aim of improving construction productivity and quality by eliminating avoidable error.

Do you know the real cost of error to your business?

Studies suggest that the direct cost of avoidable error across the construction industry is in the order of 5% of project value – well above average profit levels in the sector and costing approximately £5 billion per annum.

Unmeasured and indirect costs make it much worse, bringing estimates closer to 10-25% of project cost, or up to £25 billion each year in the UK.
